The Reds Still Infiltrate Truth Comes Out

IN THE second World War not one Nazi saboteur was able to succeed in his deadly designs in the United States.

They were frequently caught as they arrived at the shores of America. A shining example was the eight Nazi enemies arrested as they landed on Long Island from a submarine. All but one—an undercover FBI man who came with them—were executed.

The reason for our national safety was plain.

J. Edgar Hoover, as chief of the FBI, had brilliant and courageous operators in all the foreign countries. Some of them even wormed their way into Himmler's notorious Gestapo. Many were caught and never heard of again.

Then, in 1947 the law was changed.

All authority for investigation of the enemy abroad was taken away from the FBI. They are allowed now to carry their investigations only as far as the border. They are not allowed to dig into the danger at its source but must wait until the enemies have been smuggled in.

All such power was turned over to a newly created body, the Central Intelligence Agency.

NOW the present head of CIA, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, testifies under oath at a court hearing on the libel suits between Senator Benton and Senator McCarthy, that he is certain that there are Communists within his own agency and all other security agencies. But he says he does not know how to weed them out.

The FBI could easily have told him if it had been allowed to function as it did in the Second War.

Hoover has built up the greatest criminal investigative organization the world has ever known. He has been able to accomplish this by rejecting all political influences from either party. Every one of his operatives is carefully screened for character, intelligence and courage. He has even refused successfully to have his department under Civil Service for well-grounded fears of outside influences and possible leaks.

WITH the war against the Fascists over, President Truman put through Congress a new law creating a political agency.

It is headed by the President and under his direction is to "perform such functions as the President may direct." Others controlling the agency are the Vice President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense.

It was urged when the weird body was organized that J. Edgar Hoover be made director. This Truman angrily rejected.

The FBI in its fight against Communists was as handcuffed as it was in trying to investigate the Kansas City vote frauds, the vault explosion by which the evidence was stolen, and the murder of gangster Charlie Binaggio.

THERE are no Communists in the FBI. This is no reflection on the brilliant Gen. Smith or his predecessors. They are military commanders who have to take their orders from Truman, whose first job as President was to pardon all the Pendergast gang. His second was to fire the United States District Attorney who convicted them on FBI evidence.

Second they are NOT experts in the science of criminology and the arts of detection.

With the Central Agency a law, Truman ordered Hoover to withdraw all his men—some 500 of them around the world—so that they could not go to the sources of any national menace as they did before and during the war.

★
THE Detroit Free Press noted all this when the bill was passed and repeated the warnings in 1950 when it was announced by President Truman that Adm. Hillenkoetter was fired as head of the CIA and Gen. Smith installed. Hillenkoetter was made the goat.

Now, under oath, Gen. Smith says:

"I believe they (the Reds) are so adroit and adept" that while they infiltrate all our security agencies they cannot be detected.

We noted when the CIA was founded that "there was poured into it all the soft socialists, fellow travelers, and other queer people from the QWL, and other utterly useless appendages to politics—some 4,000 of them."

Not a trained criminal investigator in a carload!

It was then that Truman was screaming about "red herrings" while Congressional committees sought to uncover the subversives holding high places in his Administration. Senator Richard Nixon nailed the "red red herring," Alger Hiss, now in prison. For that brilliant and courageous job Nixon has never been forgiven.

★
REGARDLESS of his methods, "Brawling Joe" McCarthy aroused the Nation to its dangers. He got the largest vote ever given a primary candidate in Wisconsin because the people seemed "to love him for the enemies he had made."

We repeat what we said in 1950:

"The great FBI machine stands still as the clouds of war darken the face of the earth."

It still stands still.

J. Edgar Hoover refuses to play politics.
